CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Hydrophobia Among Cattle—New Postmaster For Newstead—Lost a Foot—Accident to a Child—Severe Storm.

Postmaster for Newstead.

Among the fourth-class postmasters named Saturday, one was for this county—E. M. Jones, at Newstead.

He Lost a Foot.

Geo. Pendleton, an L. & N., section hand, had his foot mashed by a train just south of Guthrie, and it had to be amputated.

Caught The Suicidal Mania.

Tim Creekmur, a very old citizen of Caldwell county, took his own life after talking over the matter of the death of a neighbor. This makes three suicides in that county within the past month.

Child's Serious Accident.

Lurena the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. A. J. Reeder, hung her foot in a sheet as she was crossing the room Saturday morning, and fell, breaking her leg above the knee. Surgical aid was on hand in a few minutes and the little girl is now getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Fell From a Phone Pole.

Ben H. Reeves, of Elkton, a line-man in the employ of the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company, fell from the top of a pole a distance of thirty feet, Friday near Guthrie, and his right leg was crushed above the knee. The limb was set and encased in plaster of paris and the young man was able to be moved to his home Sunday.

Thunderstorm Sunday.

A thunderstorm visited the city and some portions of the county Sunday afternoon, which lasted nearly an hour. It was accompanied by a hard rain, much wind and some hail. So far as learned no damage was done in or about town. Several barns and other outbuildings were blown down in the country.

Waiting For Gen. Prosperity.

Only six of the 19 life insurance companies doing business in Hopkinsville had paid the license of $50 required for 1897 last week and some of the agents who have paid were protesting very vigorously against the city officials to apply the penalty prescribed to the delinquents. So far as we have learned nothing has yet been done in the matter. Perhaps the insurance companies are hard up and are waiting for prosperity.

Dying of Hydrophobia.

A report comes from the Laytonsville neighborhood that a number of cattle in that country are afflicted with some disease resembling hydrophobia. They are suddenly attacked with spasms and become very vicious. After running over the fields until exhausted they fall and soon die in great agony. Several farmers have lost from one to three head in this manner, and new cases are developing daily. Some weeks ago several mad dogs were killed in the neighborhood and it is feared that much stock was bitten by these rabid curs.

Charged With Horse Theft.

Tom Slaughter, a well known Lafayette negro, was arrested at Murray by Messrs. C. D. Davis and Rice Broadie and lodged in jail here late last Thursday night. Slaughter is charged with having stolen a horse from a party near Lafayette. It is further alleged that he drove the animal upon a wire fence and that the horse was cut to the hollow, near the heart, by the wire, causing its death shortly afterward. Later Jim Griffey, col., was also arrested near Lafayette, on the same charge, and both men have been indicted.

Opening Ball at Cerulean.

The first ball of the season was given at Cerulean Springs Friday night and despite the thunder storm at night, a fairly good crowd was present, including young people from Cadiz, Princeton, Henderson, Hopkinsville and other towns.

The dancing was in the large dining room which was cleared for the purpose about 9:30 o'clock and until nearly 1 o'clock the young people enjoyed themselves to the music of the excellent string band engaged for the season. Cerulean has never offered more inducements to pleasure seekers or those in search of health than this season. The water is better than usual, owing to the dry weather and the cool and shady surroundings make it always pleasant, no matter how hot the weather is. Capt. W. S. Goodwin and Mr. W. A. Pool, the managers, are personally in charge of the hotel and look after the comfort of the guests. The tables are well supplied with the best of fare, including the spring chickens for which Cerulean has long been famous.

CLORIE MOSLEY DROPS DEAD.

Gave a Warning That Judgement Was Near at Hand.

Clorie Moseley, a well known colored woman, died very suddenly at Blooming Grove colored Baptist church, two miles north of the city Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock. She was known as "Clorie, the Prophet" and had just warned the congregation at the church that judgement was near at hand, and became greatly excited during her discourse. She complained that her head hurt her and walked into the house of Kate Moody, near by and asked permission to lay down. Almost instantly she fell and died without a struggle. Coroner Allensworth was summoned at once and an inquest was held over the body. The jury returned a verdict that the woman had died of heart disease. The remains were brought to the home of Richard Harris, col., her son-in-law, in this city and prepared for burial. The interment took place at the colored cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Many of her prophecies are said to have come true. About a year ago she predicted that a cyclone would destroy the city of Hopkinsville, at a certain time. Two days after the date mentioned a violent storm visited this section and the southern portion of the city suffered greatly.

She was 52 years old and had lived near the city all her life.

From Fairview.

Fairview, Ky., June 21. Preparations are being made for an arbor meeting at the Methodist church at this place to begin July 4, (1st Sunday) conducted by Rev. J. P. Lowry, who held successful revivals at Trenton, Hopkinsville and Pembroke recently, and the citizens here are all doing what they can to make the meeting a grand success. Last Monday morning a mass meeting of the citizens of this place and vicinity was held and committee's appointed as follows:

Arrangements.—J. A. Tomlinson, J. W. Petrie, Ed Wilkins, B. D. Lackey, J. W. Daugherty, S. M. Brown, F. M. Mullen, Geo. W. Shaw, C. W. Smith, R. F. Vaughan.

Entertainment.—Dr. W. S. Petrie, Ed Wilkins, J. W. Petrie, M. B. Brewer, Drs. P. H. Woodall, E. T. Hughes.

Finance.—J. A. Tomlinson, W. B. Brewer, Dr. E. T. Hughes, James Woodson.

Ample preparations will be made for music by an excellent choir of home talent, plenty of water will be kept on the grounds, and everything else that will add to the comfort and convenience of visitors.

Worthington's Pardon Mill.

Frankfort, Ky., June 19.—Acting Governor Worthington quit business yesterday afternoon with the pardon of Lewis Land, the last of the Oliver-Delaney crowd, and began business to day with the pardon of Reuben Hill, sent from Lee county for twenty-one years for manslaughter several years ago. Hill's pardon was asked by numerous citizens of Lee, including the Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

PROGRAM OF THE CELEBRATION NOW IN PROGRESS.

Longest Reign of All English Monarchs—Mother of Nine Children—She May Soon Abdicate.

London, June 19.—Never in the history of England has London so strikingly shown itself the heart of the world as it does to-night—the eve of the jubilee. At all times the busiest live of the human race, to night London is crowded to its innermost door by a stupendous gathering of strangers representing nearly every race under the sun and nearly every country found upon the map. The common object of this crowd—participating in the greatest historical pageant yet witnessed in the history of the British Empire—gives tone and complexion to every minute of time, to every thought and action.

To-morrow Victoria Regina, ruler of Great Britain and India, begins the celebration of her diamond jubilee. She has been on the throne sixty years, having succeeded her uncle, William IV., on June 20, 1837, at 4 o'clock in the morning.

Her uncle Leopold and England's Ministers of State drove post-haste to the home of the Duchess of Kent to inform the girl Victoria, then scarcely eighteen; that she had become Queen of England. The Queen was asleep, and for awhile could not realize her position.

To night the Queen will do little sleeping, for she will be kept awake by the firing of sixty cannon and the salute of sixty guns which will be sent up along the entire coast of the British Isles, beginning at 12 midnight night. In the sixty years have passed since the succession the Queen has accomplished more for England than any other sovereign that ever ruled that country, not exceeding the Virgin Queen Elizabeth, whose strides in art and whose talent for keeping the peace made her the wonder of the wonder of the Elizabethan era.

When one of the Queen's children marries Parliament grants a dowry of $150,000, and when a grandchild marries the sum of $3,000.

In addition to these trifles, the Queen gets $250,000 per annum from the Duchy of Lancaster, and an immense grant from India. She also receives large money gifts, as nothing pleases her as well as money. At the jubilee celebration ten years ago the Queen was given £350,000 by "the women of England," and on her birthday every spring she gets a big lump from her courtiers.

In return for all this money the Queen has given England, besides its advantages, nine royal children, and has secured the succession for four generations to come.

She was married February 10, 1840, to Albert, Prince of the Saxe-Coburg Gotha, and later, in the same year, a Princess Royal was born. During the next eighteen years nine children came, following each other in such rapid succession that any other woman would have begged to be excused and no Queen serving her country less faithfully than Victoria would have welcomed them. But there was always room for a baby at Windsor, the Queen feeling that England's prosperity demanded all of her. When her eldest child, "Vicky," married Frederick of Germany the Queen consoled herself by playing with Beatrice, then only a few months old.

If Victoria dies to-morrow, as it is feared she may in the excitement of the jubilee, she will leave behind her sixty five living descendants—children, grandchildren and great grandchildren—and heirs to the throne for the best part of a century to come. Should little Prince Edward, who will be three years old Tuesday, grow up and marry successfully, he will continue the line in the next century so faithfully promulgated in this one.

The services to-morrow begin with a religious observance at Frogmore, Windsor, where there is a mausoleum erected in the memory of the Prince Consort and the Queen's mother, the late Duchess of Kent. The Queen and the royal family will be present at all of the services.

On the Monday following, June 21, the court will move in semi-state to London, and that evening there will be a banquet at Buckingham Palace in honor of the royal guests. It will be followed by a reception for the members of the Diplomatic Corps and the Special Envoys.

On Tuesday, June 22, the royal procession, headed by the Queen will move through the streets of London. It will be followed by illuminations at night.

On Wednesday, June 23, there will be a garden party at Buckingham Palace, to which thousands have been invited, and for which invitations have sold for fabulous sums, many decayed members of titled families having sold their tickets for a fortune.
